The Sanitary Bug.
The Sanitary man, for by no other name can the patriotic feeling which creeps
out in Sanitary fairs, contributions and committees be so fittingly described,
had a curious illustration lately in California. The advantages were not lessened, though the instrumentality was novel.

At Dayton, in that State, while the famous fair which realized so many thousand dollars was there, a person observed a small brown bug crawling about.

Catching this specimen of Washoe an-tology, he placed it in the box of a sanitary bug, and declaring it to be the Sanitary Bug of Washoe, asked for bids for his bug. The idea took, and several bids were submitted, and the bug was bought for $10.

The new owner of the Great Sanitary Bug again put him up at auction, and
again the bidding commenced.

Just at this time a man who had offered $1.50 for the bug, asked a bystand-er for information regarding the bug.

"What is there about the bug," he asked.
"That makes it so valuable," "It is the Great Sanitary Bug," answered the person to whom this question was propounded, "it is only because the manufacturing of the Sanitary Bug that people are bidding on it." At this the man who offered $1.50 showed strong
symptoms of disgust.

roast beef and gone to bed regularly fed-

that it depended on regularity.

The third had prolonged his by never seeking or accepting office; the fourth by regularly abstaining from political or religious controversies; and the fifth by going to bed at sunset and rising at dawn.

The sixth was apparently much younger than the other five--his hair was much less gray, and there was more of it--a pleased smile, denoting a perfectly easy conscience, marked his face, and his voice was loud and strong.

They were all surprised to learn that he was by ten years the oldest man in the coach.

"If you have thus preserved the freshness of life," exclaimed the young traveler.

The old gentleman immediately an-

"I have drunk water and wine--I have dabbled in politics and written religious pamphlets--I have sometimes gone to bed at midnight, and got up at sunrise

The Three Travelers.
ST. JOHN, BUREAU.
Three travelers once on a time,
(An ancient story goes)
Together reached a country inn,
And sought a night's repose.

One was a Judge, of merry men,
Although his locks were gray;
The second was a Parson gray;
The third, a Captain gay.

"Alack!" the civil host replied,
"You're welcome to my fare;
But, on my word, the 'Golden Swan'
Has but one bed to spare!"

"In such a case it were but just,"
The weary travelers said,
"The landlord should himself decide,
Which one shall share the bed?"

"Well, be it so," the host replied;
"To me 'tis all the same;
Now, gentlemen, I pray proceed--
Let each assert his claim."

The Captain was the first to speak;
And by his sword he swore
That he had lain in garrison a dozen years and more.

His Honor then put in his claim:
"For twice as long as that
I've worn the ermine of a Judge,
And on the bench have sat."

In this my claim appears
That in the sacred ministry
I've stood for thirty years."

"The case is settled!" said the host;
"The Parson's right is best;
To lie, or sit--'tis his clear Affair, a deal of rest."

"But one who like this worthy man,"
The laughing landlord said,
"Has stood (God help him) thirty years
May fairly claim the bed!"

AMERICAN PROVERBS ABOUT WOMEN--
As the good man saith, so say we,
but as the good woman saith, so it must
be.

A woman and a greyhound must be
small in the waist.

A little house well filled a little
land well tilled, and a little wife
well willed.

All women are good; good for something and good for nothing.

A virtuous woman, though ugly, is the
ornament of the house.

An obedient wife commands her husband.

A man of straw is worth a woman of
gold.

A woman's work is never at an end.

A good wife is the workmanship of
a good husband.

When the good man's from home, the good wife's table is soon spread.

A man's best fortune--or his worst-- is a wife.

An enemy to beauty is a foe to nature.

All are good ladies; but where come the ill wives from?

Where the Laugh Comes in.
Several years ago a countryman came into a lawyer's office in Court Square,
and said to the lawyer:
"Squire, Nat Streeter shaved me
dreadfully yesterday, and I want to come up with him."
"State your case," said D.
"Well, I asked him how much he would charge me for a shave, and he said three dollars. I gave him three dollars, and he shaved me. When I came back, I paid him three dollars, and he said he wanted another three dollars for coming back, and making me pay for it."
The lawyer, who was a legal advice,
which the client immediately acted upon,
as follows: He went to Streeter and said:
"How much will you charge me for a shave to go to Salem?"
Streeter replied:
"Three dollars."
"Hear him out," said D.
"Client went to Salem, came back by railroad, and went to Streeter, saying:
"Here's your money," paying him
three dollars.
"Where's my horse?" says Streeter.
"He is at Salem," says the client, "I only hired him to go to Salem."
Streeter, who was known as a practical joker, acknowledged the corn and paid
the penalty.

The Sanitary Bug.

The Sanitary mania, for by no other name can the patriotic feeling which crops
out in Sanitary fairs, contributions and committees be so fittingly designated, had a curious illustration lately in California.

The advantages were not lessened,
though the instrumentality was novel.

At Dayton, in that State, while the famous fair which realized so many thousands of dollars was there, a person observed a small brown bug crawling about.

Catching this specimen of Washoe entomology, he placed it on the bar of a workman, and said to him: "This is the Sanitary Bug of Washoe," asked for bids for his bug-hunt. The idea took, and several bids were instantly made, and the bug was knocked down at $10.

The next owner of the Great Sanitary Bug again put him up at auction, and
again the bidding commenced.

Just at this time a man who had offered $1.50 for the bug, asked a bystand-er for information as to the bug, he asked:
"What is there about the bug, he asked,
that makes it so valuable?" "It is the Great Sanitary Bug," answered the per-
son to whom this question was propounded; "it is only because the non-
people are bidding on it." At this the
man who offered $1.50 showed strong
symptoms of disgust.

"Dann the Sanitary Bug," he cried, "is that all?"
At this Capt. Close, who was with him, said: "My friend, you must not damn the Sanitary Bug." But the man, who had been going it altogether on the merits of the bug, insisted upon damning the Sanitary Bug, whereupon Capt. Close turned loose upon him, and gave him a beautiful thrashing. During the confusion incident to this slight digression of the programme, the Great Sanitary Bug was swamped, away and lost, or his bug-hunt might have sold for this thousands of dollars, and have had the honor of a class and a trip to the Mississippi Valley Fair, labeled, "The Great Sanitary Bug from Washoe."

The Hero of the Regiment—A Faithful Dog.
Three years ago, when the Eleventh Ohio volunteer infantry left Columbus, Ohio, for the field of war, a young lad
presented to company A of the regiment a beautiful, bright-eyed spaniel. The dog was young, and became the pet of the company. The men guarded it as at first as much for the bright eyes of the fair lady as for the docility and sagacity of the animal. The spaniel was named Curly, and it early found a warm attachment for the company, and shared in all its triumphs and dangers.

The regiment was first thrown into Virginia, and in all of the bloody scenes of the Eastern campaign—the sanguinary battles fought by McClellan, Curly followed his company, and amid the smoke, flame, fire and carnage, exhibited a coolness and bravery marked and astonishing. It mattered not where his company was sent, he was followed by the faithful dog. At different times Curly was severely wounded on the battle-fields of Virginia. The members of the company kindly dressed the bleeding wounds and nursed them until he was again able for the march. The old Eleventh with Gen. Hooker's corps, was transferred to the Army of the Southwest.

In the battle of Chickamauga, the faithful dog was again wounded, and separated from the regiment. The men thought that he had been killed, and gave up all hopes of ever seeing him again.
But he was not killed. He was again about three weeks ago, en route for home, he was captured by the rebels, and about three weeks ago, he was captured by the rebels, and was severely wounded and dog coming limping into camp. As soon as he found his old company, Curly exhibited the wildest joy. He was reduced almost to a skeleton, and appeared to be suffering dreadfully. Yet, when founded by the men he barked and wagged
his tail with unmistakable delight.
Skillful nursing and kind attention had a powerful influence on the dog, and he rapidly recruited in strength and grew much better.

At the storming of Lookout Mountain,
the Eleventh Ohio aided in the gallant charge, and bravely faced the storm of lead and ball. Again Curly was unfortunately wounded in the right shoulder
by a Minie ball, from the effects of which he is now suffering.

ville, some two weeks ago, en route for

The Three Travellers.

Three travelers once on a time,
(As ancient story goes)
Together reached a country inn,
And sought a night's repose.

One was a Judge, of merry mien,
Although his locks were gray;
The second was a Parson grave;
The third, a Captain gay.

"Alack!" the civil host replied,
"You're welcome to my fire;
But, on my word, the 'Golden Swan'
Has but one bed to spare!"

"In such a case it were but just,"
The weary travelers said;
"The landlord should himself decide,
Which one shall have the bed?"

"Well, be it so," the host replied;
"To me 'tis all the same;
Now, gentlemen, I pray proceed—
Let each assert his claim."

The Captain was the first to speak,
And by his sword he swore:
"That he had laid in garrison
A dozen years and more.

His Honor then put in his claim:
"For twice as long as that
I've won the emine of a Judge,
And on the bench have sat."

The Parson said: "I serve the church;
In this my claim appears
That in the sacred ministry
I've stood for thirty years."

"The case is settled!" said the host;
"The Parson's right is best;
To be, or die—his very claim—
Affords a deal of rest."

"But one who has this worthy man,"
The laughing landlord said;
"Has stood (God help him) thirty years,
May fairly claim the bed!"

AMONG PROVERBS ABOUT WOMAN.
As the good man saith, so say we;
be.

A woman and a greyhound must be
small in the waist.
A little house well filled a little
land well filled, and a little wife
well filled.

All women are good; good for some-
thing and good for nothing.
A virtuous woman, though ugly, is the
ornament of the house.
An obedient wife commands her hus-
band.

A man of straw is worth a woman of
gold.
A woman's work is never at an end.
A good wife is the workmanship of
a good husband.

Resolved, That while we shrink from no sacrifice, and will cheerfully assume all the burdens laid upon us by the ne- cessities of the hour, we recognize the paramount importance of the practice of the most rigid economy in every depart- ment of our National and State admi- nistrations as the most efficient means of lightening the task of the people in their struggle for national existence.

A COMPLIMENT TO THE GALLANT SEVENTH MINNESOTA.

ANOKA, Aug. 1, 1864.

Editors of the St. Paul Press:

I trocured a letter from an officer in the Iowa 12th Reg., Infantry, which fought side by side with the Minnesota 7th, in the great battle with Forrest, in which he says:

"The Seventh Minnesota Infantry, which is in our brigade, fought as well as men can fight. They won immensa- ble honor and we all take pleasure in ac- knowledging it.

There is no better regiment in the ser- vice, and it is well commanded. Colo- nel Marshall is a cool and brave man, in the thick of the fight he stood right up with his men, and the good work which they performed, was owing, in a great measure, to his personal direction, and the confidence men feel in the pres- ence of their commander, at such a time.

The Lieut. Col. and Major, also acted with great gallantry. They are truly a noble set of men, and we are fortunate in having them in our Brigade."

The officer above alluded to, is Major E. M. Dyer, of the Iowa Twelfth, who has fought in every battle with Gen. Grant, from the taking of Fort Donel- son, to the surrender of Vicksburg. He is a brave officer, and knows when men do their duty. If you choose to pub- lish the above extract it may afford some gratification to those having friends in the glorious 7th.

Yours truly,
THOMAS G. JONES.

Sale of School Lands.

The balance of the School Section at Rochester, was sold at public auction on Saturday last. The land was not of the first quality, but valuable mainly for its close proximity to town.

Four hundred and thirty six and a half acres were sold for $12,321.75. One lot of 21 acres sold for $415; another for $401, and a third for $876.25. A lot containing four acres brought $680; one of gve acres, $633.75. A forty-acre tract, part bluff, and the farthest from town, brought $1020. This is probably the best sale of Real Estate that has been made since the high prices of 1857.

The balance of the School Section near Northfield, will be sold on Friday, the 5th, at 2 P. M.

The Inevitable Draft.

Lieut. Col. AVERILL, A. A. P. M. G., has received the following dispatch from Provost Marshal General Fry:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3, 1864.

See that the Board of Enrollment open as soon as practicable the enrollment lists and making all necessary preparations for proceed- ing promptly with the draft in September.

J. B. FRY,
Provost Marshal General.

A nephew of Gen. Grant was killed in the assault on Petersburg.

The New York report that Gen. Meade will be promoted and Gen. Hooker placed in command of the army of the Potomac, has not even a reasonable show of proba- bility.

NEWS ITEMS.

Lieut. Frank E. Brownell, the man who killed Jackson the murderer of Ells- worth, is appointed Assistant Provost Marshall of one of the St. Louis dis- tricts.

Wm. H. Carter, a rebel citizen of Maryland, and who was tried and con- victed before General Doubleday's Com- mission, on the charge of violating the laws of war, in contracting to furnish the Rebel Government at Richmond, with provisions, drugs, &c., has been sen- tenced to be hung. The President has approved the sentence, and the culprit will be executed at such time and place as the Commanding General of the De- partment shall designate.

Those who are accustomed to call President Lincoln "soft," and to speak of him as devoid of courage and purpose, will do well to reflect upon his procla- mation just issued, calling for soldiers, and prescribing a draft for getting them.

A draft is a popular idea, and a Presi- dential canvass is the exact time when its unpopularity can be put to use. None but a brave man—none but a morally brave man—would have uttered such a proclamation now. That he knew and felt that it would diminish the chances of his election, and might even put it in hazard, is well known. But now is the time to call for soldiers, and the Presi- dent did his duty. Yet how many ex- cuses could be heaved found for postpon- ing it; and how many justifications, such as are common, for the postponement. This set of his ought not to be over- looked.

An officer high in rank in Sherman's army wrote this, July 25th, to a relative in Saint Louis:

Our total loss to this time is from 12,000 to 15,000, while that of the enemy is at least 30,000. We have captured twenty guns and twenty five or thirty stands of colors; destroyed two import- ant railroads, occupying a third for our own use; burned a large number of val- uable cotton, woolen rolling, paper and grist mills, nearly 4,000 habs of cotton, numerous railroad depots and large quantities of subsistence and other military stores; captured thousands of horses, mules, beef cattle and sheep; and sent to the rear nearly 10,000 prisoners. We have buried or delivered to Johnston for burial, 5,000 dead rebels; and count- ing five wounded for one killed, you will find my estimate of the enemy's loss is not too high.

The New Jersey peach crop promises excellence and abundance—the largest ever raised. In Ocean county a single grove has 180,000 bearing trees, and will send 225,000 baskets to market.

Millions of fish have been poisoned in the Ohio Canal by the discharge of refuse from the extensive distilleries at Troy, and lodge along the banks in such num- bers as to cause an intolerable stench, and threaten a pestilence. If the refuse of Ohio whiskey carries such death to an- imals, asks a paper of that region, what will the whiskey itself do?

At Darien, Connecticut, a patriotic gentleman celebrated the Fourth by giv- ing five acres of building land, and a donation of $5,000 for the purpose of pro- viding a home for wounded and dis- abled soldiers belonging to the state.

The Home was duly inaugurated, and it is proposed to raise $100,000 for its per- manent endowment.

The Copperheads have called a State Convention to put in nomination candi- dates for Judges of the Supreme Court, Presidential Electors and Congressmen; on the 7th of September.

St. Louis, Wednesday, Aug. 3.

There are various rumors on the street concerning interesting developments in- culcating leading Copperheads in the North in the Order of American Knights, but the Provost Marshal General says his lips are sealed for the present. As a singular coincidence some badges and hat bands taken from captured bush- whackers, have been sent to General Rosecrans's headquarters, which are the same in color and device as those worn by the McClellan Minute Men in New York. The co-operation of Illinois Copperheads in smuggling arms and powder to the Missouri guerrillas, is an established fact.

Reports from North Missouri state that upwards of one hundred and fifty bushwhackers have lately surrendered themselves to the commanders at Liberty, Weston and St. Joseph. They are the only class of guerrillas ever held as prisoners, and four who arrived here last night claim to be citizens of Adams county, Illinois. Guerrillas are at work rob- bing citizens in Moniteau county.

—Wm. H. Carter, a rebel citizen of Maryland, and who was tried and convicted before General Doubleday's Commission, on the charge of violating the laws of war, in contracting to furnish the Rebel Government at Richmond with provisions, drugs, &c., has been sentenced to be hung. The President has approved the sentence, and the culprit will be executed at such time and place as the Commanding General of the Department shall designate.

—Those who are accustomed to call President Lincoln a "soft," and to speak of him as devoid of courage and purpose, will do well to reflect upon his proclamation just issued, calling for soldiers, and prescribing a draft for getting them. A draft is a popular idea, and a Presidential canvass is the exact time when its unpopularity can be put to use. None but a brave man—none but a morally brave man—would have uttered such a proclamation now. That he knew and felt that it would diminish the chances of his election, and might even put it in hazard, is well known. But now is the time to call for soldiers, and the President did his duty. Yet how many excuses could be have found for postponing it; and how many justifications, such as are common, for the postponement. This act of his ought not to be overlooked.

—An officer high in rank in Sherman's army wrote thus, July 25th, to a relative in Saint Louis:
Our total loss to this time is from 12,000 to 15,000, while that of the enemy is at least 30,000. We have captured twenty guns and twenty five or thirty stands of colors; destroyed two important railroads, occupying a third for our own use; burned a large number of valuable cotton, woolen rolling, paper and grist mills, nearly 4,000 habs of cotton, numerous railroad depots and large quantities of subsistence and other military stores; captured thousands of horses, mules, beef cattle and sheep; and sent to the rear nearly 10,000 prisoners. We have buried or delivered to Johnston for burial, 5,000 dead rebels; and counting five wounded for one killed, you will see that my estimate of the enemy's loss is not too high.

Millions of fish have been poisoned in the Ohio Canal by the discharge of refuse from the extensive distilleries at Troy, and lodge along the banks in such numbers as to cause an intolerable stench, and threaten a pestilence. St. Louis, Wednesday, Aug. 3.
There are various rumors on the street concerning interesting developments inculcating leading Copperheads in the North in the Order of American Knights, but the Provost Marshal General says his lips are sealed for the present. As a singular coincidence some badges and hat bands taken from captured bushwhackers have been sent to General Rosecrans headquarters, which are the same in color and device as those worn by the McCallen Minute Men in New York. The co-operation of Illinois Copperheads in smuggling arms and powder to the Missouri guerrillas, is an established fact.

Reports from North Missouri state that upwards of one hundred and fifty bushwhackers have lately surrendered themselves to the commanders at Liberty, Weston and St. Joseph. They are the only class of guerrillas ever held as prisoners, and four who arrived here last night claim to be citizens of Adams county, Illinois. Guerrillas are at work robbing citizens in Monticau county.

Jeff Davis's Terms of Peace.

Jeff Davis states his ultimatum to the people of the North through Messrs. Gilmore and Jaques, as follows: "I shall at any time be pleased to receive proposals for Peace on the basis of our Independence. It will be useless to approach me with any other." "We suppose," says the Chicago Tribune, "the copperhead and northern rebel papers who are anxious to have the people believe that the Emancipation Proclamation of 1862 occasioned the rebellion in 1860, and that Jeff. Davis only awaits the election of McClellan, the dismissal of Gen. Butler and the negro troops, and the repeal of the Emancipation act and Proclamations to come quietly into the Union of his own accord, will answer all this by the very convenient statement that Gilmore and Jaques lie—that Jeff. Davis has entirely too much regard for the unity and success of the Democratic party to say anything which would explode their small torpedoes in their own Democratic faces, and put an untimely quietus on their 'Democratic' falsehoods, essential to a successful Democratic campaign. We admit, we regard it as bad judgment in Jeff not to say had Democracy—when his Northern friends have him so pleasantly painted as knocking at the closed door of the Federal Union, of which Mr. Lincoln maliciously holds the key; but would let him in—for him to rudely open canvases, paints, brushes, and artists, and dash against their beautiful picture his 'won't come in till I'm brought in.' But here it is. Now the Democracy say they will have peace on Jeff's terms. Jeff says it will be useless to approach him with any other than Independence. Will the Democracy approach the rebels with Independence? Heretofore they have only approached him with servility.

At a peace meeting at Columbus, Ohio, on Tuesday, a resolution was adopted expressing high regard for the soldiers, whereupon several of the latter, in order to test the sincerity of the "peace brethren" groaned for Jeff. Davis. This was too much for the "peace men," who, with bowie-knives and pistols, rushed upon the soldiers and drove them from the ground. The latter were unarmed.

Dr. Brown, of Liberty, Maine, was found guilty by the U. S. District Court, at Bangor, Saturday, of the practice of applying poison to drafted men in such a way that they were exempted for piles and other diseases. His charge was $100 a week.

Vallandighamism.

The Dayton Journal gives the substance of Vallandigham's speech in that city, on the 13th, as follows: "We may be compelled to dominate a War Democrat at Chicago. What will be the result? The war will go on. A War Democrat will prosecute the war as Lincoln does. You will be taxed to pay the interest on the public debt, and you will have to pay it. Barring a little extra stealing that is going on now, your expenses will be just as heavy as now. More men will be needed, and you will have another draft. What's the difference whether you are drafted by Lincoln or by a Democrat? He, the speaker, would just as soon be drafted by Lincoln as by a Democrat. He is in favor of peace, and wanted a peace candidate nominated at Chicago. The Dayton meeting adopted the following resolution: Resolved, That we demand of the President of the United States, as our service—not as our master—the immediate revocation of his order for another draft; and that the people be requested throughout the country to protest against it.

A Negro Sells Himself.

A contraband was, on Tuesday, brought to Columbus, Ohio, by a citizen who promised him $350 to go as a substitute. But when the subtle gentleman found that he could get more by putting himself up for sale—he had been sold several times before under very different circumstances—and soon knocked himself off for $1,200. Formerly he had got nothing for working for his master, but now he got twelve hundred dollars to start on, together with board, clothes and $10 per month for shooting at those who have heretofore robbed him and his ancestors.

Josh Billings wants to make a few bets.

I want to make the following bets: First.—I want to bet 7,000 dollars that Abraham Lincoln, Esq., and his wife and his son Robt., will be the next President of the United States of America.

Secondly.—I want to bet 35 dollars that I shall vote for John C. Fremont, not no other man will, who voted for Lincoln the last time he ran.

Thirdly.—I want to bet 17 dollars, that the absecon convention can't get electoral vote any stait north of Massy & Dixie's line unless it is uppr and Lowrie Kanade.

Fourthly.—I want to bet 10 dollars that John C. Fremont's letter w ecept, tante embody the cheaggar platform, and enufusee bet dam enny man.

Fifthly.—I want to bet several hundred dollars that this war goes rite on, and enny thing that gets in the way of it, whether it is Jeff Davis or the Democratic platform, gets knoe higher than the top ov Mount Pisger.

Sixthly.—I want to bet bet mi noat for 1,000 dollars, payable six months before it is due, that George B. McClellan, Esq., the Rev. Fernandy Wood, or Vallandigham, the pilgrim, will have to be the nominee at the sheaggar convention, else the Democratic party will have to make a platform bet sute some decent man.

Seventhly.—I want to bet avl the rest of mi real and imaginary Estait, that General U. S. Grant Kant be in juced tw run agin enny other man but Jeff Davis, and if he dant run agin him was than a steel pined ram, within the next two or three years, enny man may have me my hairs, and assigns forever, and ever, amen. I want to bet the above bets.

To Preserve Cucumbers for Pickling.

—Cut the cucumbers from off the vines without bruising the stems; lay them carefully in a basket; take them to the cellar; sort and pack them in barrels, putting different sizes in separate barrels, spread a layer of salt between each layer of cucumbers; there should be sufficient salt to entirely cover the pickles between the layers. Continue to pack the cucumbers daily as they are picked, never using any but fine cucumbers, discarding all that are crooked or of slow growth. Keep boards over the pickles, and weight to press them without the brine, which will be formed without the addition of water, with the juice extracted from the fruit by the salt. Pickles packed in this manner may be preserved for years, if there are no impurities in the salt; but if the salt is mixed with lime, they will soon soften and spoil.

IMPROVING THE NAVIGATION OF THE MISSISSIPPI.—CAPTAIN DAVIDSON OF THE La Crosse line of steamers, has inaugurated an ingenious and novel scheme for removing the sand-bars on the Upper Mississippi.

He has sent orders to his agent at St. Paul, Mr. Wm. R. Jones, to send a steamer or with a force of workmen to commence operations upon the various sand-bars which so materially interfere with navigation between Hastings and St. Paul.

The plan is simply to build wing dams on these bars from each shore, so as to force the water through a narrow channel which is now spread over a shallow, wide bar, by which it is hoped the sand will be completely washed away, and a channel formed of sufficient capacity to admit the passage of boats.

If the plan succeeds—and much confidence is felt in its feasibility—the people of St. Paul will be under lasting obligations to the indomitable Captain for his efforts in preventing their ambitious little village from becoming an inland town.

Widow Makers.

The La Crosse Republican administers the following scathing rebuke to the editor of the Democrat for calling President Lincoln a "widow maker." Brick would be likely to agitate that question again:

President Lincoln is daily denounced in the columns of the Democrat as a "murderous widow maker." The venerable Editor of that paper whose moral vagrancy is too loathsome for discussion in a public newspaper has had a good deal to say about "widow makers." What does this impious and base wretch mean by thus casting his filth and insolence upon his betters? Does he not know that he has outraged public decency in this community to a degree that has taxed the tolerance of his fellow citizens? Is he not aware that the sores of Lazarus were cleaner than the mouth of the dog who thus endeavors day by day to infect his poisonous virus into the body politic, while barking and yelping at men whose good names ought never to be called in question by such an outcast?

Who is a "widow maker" of such infamous and intolerable wickedness as the faithless and black-hearted wretch, who abandons to the cold hospitality of the world, the wife whom he has sworn to cherish, and the child who issued from his loins? By the God that made us, we will not permit such a vile creature to defile the unblemished character of the Chief Magistrate of the country of which we are an humble citizen, without stripping from his loathsome carcass every rag that conceals his moral profligacy from public execration. The Fifth Regiment.

The Pioneer of the 23d inst. says:— "The fifth regiment arrived at Memphis on Sunday morning the 14th inst., and was ordered to leave the next morning for Holly Springs by railroad. The regiment will take its old place in General Mower's division of General Smith's army, and Colonel Hubbard will be in command of the Second brigade as usual. The regiment was in good health and spirits—not a man on the sick list. The trip from Cairo was made in two days, the boat laying up nights on account of guerrillas."

—The world is coming to an end in 1865. Professor Neunayer, of Munich, says so. He adds that a comet will run against the earth and absorb it, as one drop of mercury absorbs another. Of course, the world will be annihilated. The comet will take place till the end of the year, so that they may have a little time left to profit by the coming Presidential election and the consequent division of spoils.
